Small Group Discussion

The Week of: Nov. 11, 2026

What's your life like:

What was the one thing you wanted most when you were a kid?

What are we talking about this week:

Main Point of Message:

- We are in the final week of our series Five Values to Live By. We are talking about living generously. We're looking at how giving to others fills us up in ways that getting stuff for ourselves never could. We're also challenging students to live generously by giving towards a project we are doing with the Dwelling Place

Bible Verses

- Luke 12:15; Acts 20:35; Matthew 6:19-21; John 12:25

Discussion Questions

1. Why do you think getting more stuff can feel good at first but doesn't always make us happier for long?
2. Have you ever done something generous for someone and ended up feeling like you got something out of it too? What happened?
3. What are some ways you can be generous without money?
4. What makes generosity hard sometimes?
5. What are some things that seem really important now, but probably won't matter to you much five years from now? What kinds of things WILL matter?
6. How could something small you give today have an impact that lasts a long time?

Now what:

We hope you give to the Dwelling Place project this week or next week, but living generously isn't just a one time thing. What's one other practical way that you could give to others with your time, your talent, or your treasure (money)?
